

Military and Veteran Resilience and Health Collaborative

Inaugural Summit to Support Those Who Serve

Join us for the launch of the College of Health Solutions' Military and Veteran Resilience and Health Collaborative (MVRHC) and unveiling of our innovative partnership with Home Base.

- ★ Explore our focus areas, ongoing initiatives, and gain insight into the strengths, needs and challenges faced by the military-connected and first responder community.
- ★ Two exciting panels featuring local leaders and organizations offering vital programs and services. Includes guided discussions and an opportunity to participate in dynamic Q&A sessions with the panelists.
- ★ Unveiling of our partnership with Home Base for the Warrior Health and Fitness Program. Learn how you can actively engage in future collaborations and expand our collective impact.

Presentations and panel discussions led by:

- ★ Dr. Rachel Larson, Director and Clinical Associate Professor, ASU College of Health Solutions

Don't miss this opportunity to enhance your understanding of those who serve, connect with the experts and network with others who are working towards a healthier, more resilient community. ASU students, faculty, staff, first responders, active military and veterans, caregivers, providers and community supporters are encouraged to attend!

Thursday, Jan. 18, 2024
1-4 p.m.

A.E. England Building
ASU Downtown
Phoenix campus
424 N. Central Ave.,
Phoenix, AZ 85004

asu.edu/map

Register:

[http://links.asu.edu/
MVRHCsummit2024](http://links.asu.edu/MVRHCsummit2024)

